

HOUSE DEFEATS
FARM MEASURE

Austin, Tex., June 14.—The house bill which sought to remove the limit that may be appropriated by the commission for farm demonstration work was defeated today by a vote of 218 to 191.

The bill increasing the salaries of deputy county officers $25 per month in all counties having a city with a population of 25,000 or more, was passed by a vote of 218 to 191.

The Northern bill increasing the compensation of county treasurers from $2000 to $2500 was passed finally.

A communication from controller M. L. Wightman was read in answer to a recent resolution adopted in the house advising that confederate soldiers would receive $24 for the current quarter and that all outstanding pension warrants not called for by January 1, 1921, would be cancelled and the money turned back into the pension fund.

Representative Tillison of Austin county introduced a concurrent resolution authorizing the state highway department to institute an inquiry into the cement production of Texas with a view of developing the industry.

The senate passed finally a bill exempting from occupation taxes all water and light plants in cities of 1500 and less and also exempted the allowing cotton mill corporations to take out charters within 10 percent of their capital stock is fully paid up.

ESCORBAR VOWS
TO GET VILLA

Without which he cannot hope to continue in power.

Many have given up.

A large number of Villa's men have surrendered to both Gen. Enriquez and myself, and as a result all of them tell the same story—that they were tricked into joining the bandit on his word that he had allied himself with the de facto government—we do not punish any of them. We simply disarm them and see they are given work.

"I missed an opportunity either to capture or destroy Villa when I came upon his rear guard the day prior to his attack on Parral. His horses were fresh after a day's rest and good feed. While the horses of my command were worn out with the forced march. He escaped, and I was unable to trap him."

"As it was we succeeded in killing a few Villistas and took a number of prisoners before the main body got away."

When asked if it were true that Villa held a large number of prisoners against Gen. Enriquez because he believed Enriquez had influenced Gen. Escobar to attack him, he said that he had heard of such threats, but had paid no attention to them.

"Villa naturally holds an antipathy to anyone who is against him. He holds all the prisoners of the army, and where his enemies are concerned, but I consider his threats of no moment."

"I know Villa, and I am what you Americans call 'wise' to him. Villa is not the fearless hero he is thought by many people. On the contrary, he is only a cowardly bandit, who, like a coyote, skulks through the hills, waiting for the opportunity to strike."

"His threats mean nothing. He has been given opportunity to try conclusions with me personally, but has never taken advantage of them."

When asked if he was in Parral, Villa has attempted attacks on Parral, Jimenez and Camargo, but we have been so close on his trail that his demonstrations have proved fruitless."

When cut off from the Palomas mountains a day or so ago by a column under command of Gen. Benigno Gonzalez, which I sent to the north for that purpose, Villa had about 60 men. He is now heading south, in an effort to regain the mountains."

"General Amaro, who brought 5000 men from Mexico City to Chihuahua to take the field against Villa, is working in cooperation with me."

To Garrison Town.

"We both have the object of Villa's capture in view and we are working in cooperation to secure it. In view of the greater part of Gen. Amaro's force, the infantry and artillery divisions, I am in the position of being a co-commander of the forces of Chihuahua against Villa. Two detachments of cavalry, under Gen. Amaro, will take part in the pursuit of Villa. The government has now to Chihuahua nearly 10,000 men to be used directly against the bandit. It becomes necessary—which it will not—30,000 more will be sent to Chihuahua."

"This is a campaign of attrition, however, and it will be a long one. It will not be effective in gaining results against Villa. The pursuit must be more persistent by small detachments of picked men, well horsed, who can get over the mountains rapidly."

Terrazas Family, Long Exiles,
Prepare To Return To Mexico

ALBERTO TERRAZAS, a son of A. Gen. Luis Terrazas, Chihuahua's wealthiest man, is preparing to return to Mexico, after an exile of more than seven years in the United States.

Mr. Terrazas came to El Paso from his home in Los Angeles, a few days ago for a conference with Alberto V. Pasquel. He wanted, he explained, to ascertain the attitude of the new government toward the desire of the Terrazas family to resume possession of their extensive lands in Chihuahua, from which they were forced by the revolutionists in 1912.

Mr. Pasquel assured Mr. Terrazas that the family would be welcomed back to Mexico and would be given every guaranty of protection by the de facto government.

Mr. Terrazas remained in El Paso only long enough to get a passport and a visa for Mexico, and then returned to Los Angeles, after which he returned to Los Angeles.

It is said the Terrazas lands in Chihuahua, which cover millions of acres, and from which thousands of cattle were confiscated or stolen in the early days of the revolution, will be returned in an effort to recoup the family fortunes.

Mr. Terrazas is said to be a man of considerable wealth and influence in Mexico.

CHICAGO HAS GRAVEYARD
OF FAMOUS WAR VESSELS

Chicago, Ill., June 14.—There is a graveyard of famous fighting ships in the heart of Chicago's manufacturing district. In the Chicago river is assembled one of the strangest fleets ever assembled on the Great Lakes. The submarines, once the fleet and one of the prides of admiral von Tirpitz, has little in its appearance to indicate its warlike character. The ships are sunk by torpedoes and gunfire and no one knows how many destroyed by mines, for the U-S7 was a mine layer.

On deck she still boasts a long range naval rifle, but below is only a small storeroom. Her main engine has been stripped out and shipped to Annapolis, where future officers of the navy will receive their education.

The U-S7 was surrendered at Scapa Flow after the armistice and was one of five U-boat allies to the United States. She toured the Great Lakes during the Victory Loan drive before coming to her last rest here.
